Signal Hill's Diversity Coalition Committee seeks five new members

Emma DiMaggio
Managing Editor

Signal Hill's two-year-old Diversity Coalition Committee (DCC) is looking for five new volunteer members to join its ranks.

The Diversity Coalition Committee is a feature of Signal Hill's Race and Equity Framework, which was created in 2020 in response to the murder of George Floyd by a Minneapolis police officer.

Committee members are tasked with examining the City's policies and engaging with the community on different aspects of race and equity "as part of an evolving effort to address systematic racism and bias in the policies and practices of municipal government," according to the City's website.

"It's actually a lot of fun to celebrate the cultures of our community. There's a lot of self-satisfaction that you get for the impact you make on bringing people together," said Fred Abdelnour, the committee's City-hired facilitator.

Abdelnour is also a board member of the Signal Hill Police Foundation.

The committee has three major focus areas: education, facilitation and continuous improvement.

For the past two years, Abdelnour has led the group through three phases: learning about Signal Hill diversity initiatives and the Race and Equity Framework, researching community input about the City and its diversity and, now, implementing programs.

In January, the committee spear-

Illegal fireworks use can cost up to $20K in Long Beach, $80K in Signal Hill

Samantha Diaz
Online Editor

As Fourth of July draws near, it's important to remember that all fireworks are illegal in Long Beach and Signal Hill, and carry a hefty penalty. These include "safe and sane" fireworks as well.

Though Long Beach will host two fireworks shows, residents are discouraged from lighting, distributing, selling or participating in fireworks outside of the scheduled events.

Long Beach passed a series of ordinances last year less than a month before the Independence Day holiday, widening the scope of liability and penalties for the use of illegal fireworks.

Penalties for fireworks for first-time offenders in the city of Long Beach may include:

- $1,000 administrative penalty, six months jail time, or both.
- $250 disposal fee if fireworks are found and need to be disposed of by the fire marshal.
- City response costs up to $20,000 if sufficient evidence is provided and multiple city departments have to be dispatched to a location for a response.

The city can hold accountable any "host" who is in charge of the property in which the illegal activity happened, including landlords, tenants, property managers or owners who organize, supervise or are "otherwise in charge of" the property.

Signal Hill adopted similar ordinances in March of last year, as well as a sliding scale to penalize violators—based on how many times a person has violated the fireworks laws and how many fireworks the person is in possession of. The scale is based on the same one used by the State Fire Marshal.

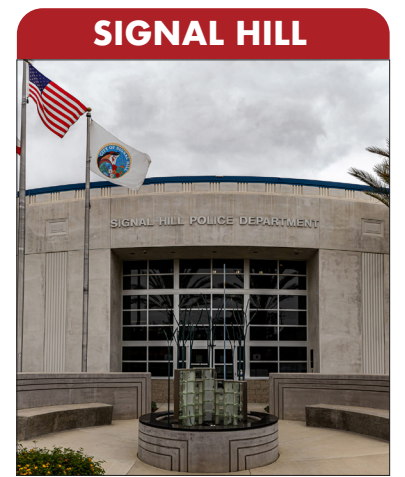

A second-time offense in Signal Hill will cost $2,000 plus a $500 disposal fee if the fireworks are under 100 pounds, but up to $70,000 for more than 5,000 pounds. A third-time offense will cost a violator a minimum of $4,000 and a maximum of $80,000.

Residents encouraged to report illegal fireworks on GoLongBeach app, evidence needed to prosecute

Despite the bolstered fireworks laws, residents like Dolores Ramos who lives in East Long Beach, continued to hear loud booms for hours throughout the month of June "until two or three in the morning—and it's every night."

Ramos has lived in Long Beach since the '70s, and claims fireworks remain an issue from late April through the Fourth of July weekend, often causing animals to escape

Signal Hill Police Department obtains approval to use military-grade weapons

Jorge Villa

The Signal Hill City Council approved an ordinance allowing the police department to use military-grade weapons, including rifles, launchers and smoke grenades at its Tuesday, May 24 meeting.

The Signal Hill City Council agreed on the military equipment use policy for its first reading on Tuesday, presented by Signal Hill Police Chief Carl Charles.

The ordinance will allow officers to use their current inventory of military-grade weapons and post the complete list of equipment on the department's website.

As a part of a statewide law, the military equipment use policy also known as Assembly Bill 481 (AB 481) authorizes the Department of Defense to transfer surplus equipment to federal or state agencies for use in law enforcement activities.

This bill requires law enforcement agencies to obtain approval from their governing body by adopting the policy as an ordinance to either buy or continue using military-grade equipment.

California Gov. Gavin Newsom approved AB 481, or the Military Equipment Use Policy law, which took effect in January 2022, to "provide transparency, oversight, and an opportunity for public input on decisions regarding whether and how military equipment is funded, acquired, or used," accord-

Long Beach Police Department

On June 17, 2017, Long Beach Police Department officers confiscated fireworks, several thousand dollars of cash and a significant quantity of narcotics from a residence in the 2600 block of Long Beach Boulevard. They also recovered a stolen handgun and ammunition.

their homes in a frenzy.

“One particular lady, [her] animals have been running out two or three times or four times around the neighborhood,” Ramos said. “We need some kind of a deterrent for [setting off fireworks]. You know this thing about, ‘I’ll come out if you can take a video,’ it doesn’t work because these things happen and then these kids run away.”

Ramos said her emails to the city, as well as phone calls to the LBPD have been unsuccessful in catching those responsible.

In 2021, more than 270 complaints were made through the city’s online portal, with nine of them providing enough evidence to prompt an investigation, according to Fourth of July weekend safety statistics released by the City. 2020 saw 460 complaints from residents, though only three of them contained enough evidence to prosecute.

On June 18, the Long Beach Fire Department responded to a call about a building ablaze on the 3900 block of Allin Street. The firefighters found a pile of fireworks on the second floor, which exploded and ended up injuring four firefighters.

The firefighters were sent to the hospital for burn injuries and hearing-related issues.

Residents are encouraged to file a report with the city’s GoLongBeach app if they see someone setting off, selling or distributing fireworks. Reports require a time, date, description, video or picture evidence as well as a location in order to prompt an investigation.

Previously, residents were encouraged to use the City Prosecutor’s Fireworks Complaint Public Portal which has been decommissioned this year in favor of the GoLongBeach app, City Prosecutor Doug Haubert explained. The goal of the app is to help the LBPD create a heat map identifying areas of high firework activity as well as to gather enough evidence on a person to send to the prosecutor’s office.

“So far [this year] we haven’t received any information that can lead to the criminal filing of complaints,” Haubert said. “We haven’t received any complaints from the app that can lead to prosecution. We’re using this year to monitor whether the app is effective in a way that police and prosecutors can apprehend and hold accountable those firing illegal fireworks.”

Haubert strongly encouraged residents to use the app to file a report. However, he said they are welcome to email prosecutor@longbeach.gov if they believe they have sufficient evidence to prosecute the person responsible.

“In the past three years we’ve seen what appears to be an increase in illegal firework activity,” Haubert said. He explained this year’s dry climate may also result in an increase of fires due to fireworks, and urged people to stay clear of lighting fireworks “so we can prevent the loss of life and property.”

Residents can also email the Long Beach Police Department at one of their four divisions, provided they have some information about who set off the fireworks. People should not dial 9-1-1 to report fireworks activity unless there has been an injury or fire.

headed a long-planned initiative to survey the community’s perceptions of diversity, racism and equity in the city of Signal Hill.

Recent topics of discussion at meetings include plans for a diversity showcase at the Concerts in the Park series.

New members will take part in planning a cultural celebration in 2023, leading up to the City’s centennial celebration in 2024. Plans are also in the works for a speaker series to “build awareness and engagement with residents and the City in a very sensitive and inclusive manner,” Abdelnour said.

Committee seeks to replace former members

The committee has bled members over the past two years, starting with an initial 22 applicants. One never responded after submitting their application, and over time others have left the committee for various reasons: business commitments, relocating out of Signal Hill or inability to attend meetings, according to Abdelnour.

Others left because they “wanted it to be more, almost political,” according to Abdelnour.

At a January 2021 DCC meeting, then-member Triphina Moore asked, “Are we making sure that we are staying focused or true to the objectives that the City has laid out? How does a festival relate to racial equity?” in response to members’ suggestions to host a cultural festival.

Abdelnour said the DCC was not framed to take political actions.

“They’re there to improve the community, build relationships, things like that,” Abdelnour told the Signal Tribune. “There were some that felt that there should be a ‘defund the police’ push, racial evaluations of the police department. We found that none of that existed and they weren’t happy about that.”

The five new appointees will replace outgoing committee members.

The ten continuing DCC members include Pam Dutch Hughes, Lupe Reyes, Samona Michelle Caldwell, Harshan Jayakumar, Diana Phillips, Todd Sahara, Jon-Stephen Scott, Kenyetta Suggars, Christopher Wilson and Lisa Wong.

Abdelnour said “anybody and everybody” is invited to apply.

“What we’re really looking for in potential candidates are folks that are passionate about the city of Signal Hill and want it to be a very engaging and connected city for all residents,” Abdelnour said.

The Diversity Coalition Committee meetings are held at 6 p.m. on the second and fourth Wednesday of the month. The hybrid meetings usually last one to two hours, Abdelnour said, making the total time commitment about three to five hours per month.

Eligible applicants will be notified no later than Wednesday, July 20. Current committee members will review applications and conduct interviews on Thursday, July 28 at 6 p.m. or during a special meeting date to be determined.

The City of Signal Hill is accepting applications until Thursday, July 14 at 4:30 p.m. Applicants must be Signal Hill residents or business representatives.

The application is available online at www.governmentjobs.com/careers/signalhill. For more information, call 562-989-7304, 562-989-7307 or 562-989-7726.

Los Cerritos 4th of July Parade returns this year after two year hiatus

Los Cerritos resident Mariah Cool is bringing back a decades-long neighborhood tradition for the first time since the pandemic.

The Los Cerritos 4th of July Parade has been going strong for over 30 years, but during the pandemic, the original organizer decided not to continue the tradition.

When Cool learned the parade was going to be canceled, she stepped up to organize it herself.

She created a GoFundMe campaign for the parade that has surpassed its goal of $2,000 and has raised $3,725 as of Thursday, June 30.

Those who wish to participate in the parade should meet at 10 a.m. on July 4 at the intersection of Country Club Drive and Pine Avenue, before walking or biking down to Los Cerritos Park.

"Anyone's welcome to come. The more, the merrier," Cool said. "We encourage people to dress up and decorate their bikes or their dogs or whatever. Just have fun."

A New Orleans jazz band will be walking in the parade to provide festive tunes for participants.

At the park, attendees will be able to enjoy more live music, face painting, balloon art, classic car displays, bubbles, popsicles, prizes and hotdogs cooked by members of the Long Beach Police Department.

Cool plans to continue the tradition for her neighborhood for years to come.

"I'll do it until I'm an old lady," Cool said.

Long Beach updates Pride crosswalks to be more inclusive

Five rainbow-painted crosswalks celebrating LGBTQ+ pride in Long Beach will be pressure-washed and repainted with new flags featuring more inclusive colors in the coming weeks.

While the current crosswalks only include the colors of the rainbow—the traditional colors of the Pride flag—the new crosswalks will feature the Progress Pride flag.

Unlike the traditional Pride flag, the Progress Pride flag includes a triangle featuring the white, pink and blue stripes of the transgender flag and stripes of brown and black, representing the inclusion of marginalized people of color.

The updated flag was created in 2018 by non-binary American artist Daniel Quasar, who based their design on the original Pride flag, adding a triangle jutting out from the left with the new colors.

The first repainted crosswalk at the intersection of Broadway and Junipero Avenue was completed Thursday morning. The remaining four crosswalks will be painted in the coming weeks, according to a spokesperson from the Long Beach Public Works Department.

The other four rainbow crosswalks are located at the intersections of Broadway and Newport, Cherry, Falcon and Orange Avenues.

The move comes just weeks before the Long Beach Pride Parade and Festival, which will take place Saturday, July 9 and Sunday, July 10.

Headlining singers Iggy Azalea, Natalia Jimenez and Paulina Rubio will perform at the event. The festival will feature a silent disco, an adult S&M playground, a family fun zone, a roller rink, a dance competition, artist walls and a drag diva glam squad.

Hilltop area closed to nonresident vehicles on Fourth of July

Vehicles access will be restricted in the Signal Hill Hilltop area and surrounding areas on Monday, July 4 from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m.

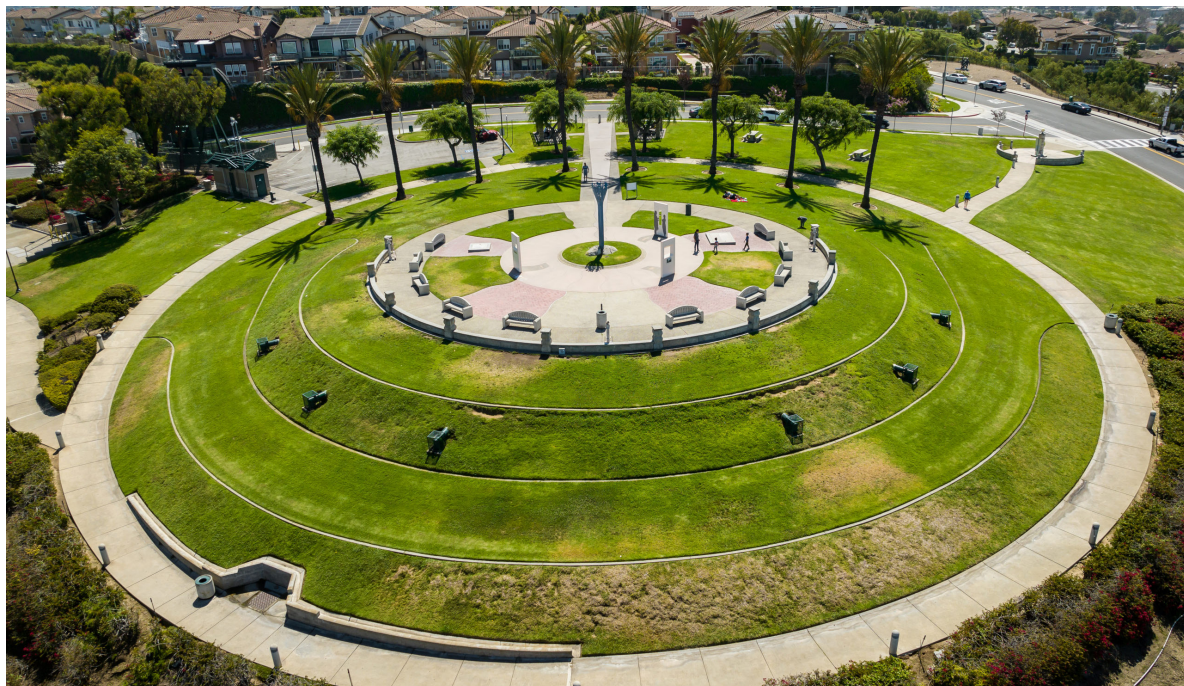

The Hilltop area, home to Hilltop Park, is a popular viewing area for scenic views of Long Beach and Signal Hill, as well as a prime location for viewing fireworks during the Fourth of July and New Year holidays.

However, only Hilltop residents and their pre-approved guests will be allowed to drive in the area on Independence Day.

The City of Signal Hill will set up two checkpoints—the first at 21st Street and Junipero Avenue and the second at Temple Avenue and 20th Street—to screen those entering the area and check their proof of residency.

Hilltop residents who intend to bring guests should contact Signal Hill Police Sergeant Raul Ramirez at rramirez@signalhillpd.org with their name, address and their number of guests.

Residents should expect to see "No Parking" signs at barricades prior to the July 4 holiday. Illegal street parking will be enforced, according to the City of Signal Hill's website.

Signal Hill gears up for summer with weekly concert series in Signal Hill Park

The City of Signal Hill will hold a series of six free concerts in Signal Hill Park in July and August.

The concerts will take place on the following Wednesdays from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.:

- July 6 – The Rosaries, a '50s cover band, will be performing well-known songs from the past
- July 13 – The Boys of Summer will be performing an Eagles tribute show
- July 20 – Knyght Ryder will be performing a variety of hits from the '80s
- July 27 – Britain's Finest will be performing a Beatles tribute show
- August 3 – The Brobots will be performing high-energy rock-n-roll party music
- August 10 – Soul3Sixty will be playing a selection of pop and soul from the 60s'

The Signal Hill Diversity Coalition Committee has also organized cultural presentations which will take place from 6 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. before the concerts begin. Performances include groups such as JD Dance Company and the Spanish Latin band Revenante.

Residents are encouraged to bring chairs, blankets, picnic-style dinners and friends.

Signal Hill Park is located at 2175 Cherry Ave, adjacent to Signal Hill City Hall and across from Hilltop

Park.

Signal Hill and Long Beach Police Departments will have extra officers on patrol for Fourth of July

On Fourth of July, both the Long Beach and Signal Hill Police Departments will have additional officers on patrol looking for drivers suspected of being under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol.

"If you plan on drinking this weekend, plan on a safe and sober ride home," SHPD Sergeant Don Moreau said in a statement. "Think of your loved ones, friends, and family before thinking about driving after you've had a few drinks."

From 2016 to 2020, 1,390 drivers were killed in motor vehicle crashes over the Fourth of July holiday period—41% of the drivers killed were drunk, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

SHPD encourages residents to do their research on prescription drugs, over-the-counter medications and marijuana to determine how certain drugs might affect their ability to drive.

Those heading out to watch fireworks or celebrating with friends are encouraged to monitor their level of drinking and designate sober drivers.

Bixby Animal Clinic offering free microchipping ahead of Independence Day holiday

The Bixby Animal Clinic is partnering with Friends of Long Beach Animals to offer free microchipping for cats and dogs ahead of the Fourth of July holiday.

Pet owners can make an appointment or drop by the clinic for free microchipping until July 3.

"More pets go missing during the Fourth of July than any other time of the year," Ramos said. "The noises, flashes and the burning smell of pyrotechnics are not something cats and dogs appreciate, and can induce panic."

When pets panic, they're more likely to run away. Microchips can increase the likelihood of owners being reunited with their pets, as the devices carry information on the pet owner's name, their home address, their phone number and email, in addition to other information about the pet.

Both cats and dogs can be microchipped during the event and there is no age or weight requirement for the pets, according to Ramos. Pet owners are encouraged to bring in proof of an updated rabies vaccine. Appointments are preferred but not required.

As of July 29, the Bixby Animal Clinic has microchipped about 95 pets for free, but expects to microchip many more in the days leading up to the Fourth of July, Ramos said.

Each microchip is about the size of a large grain of rice. The nonsurgical procedure does not require anesthesia and takes only seconds, but pet owners should expect the entire process to take about 15 minutes to account for time to check in their pets, Ramos said.

The Bixby Animal Clinic is located at 3938 Atlantic Ave. and is open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and weekends from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. To set up an appointment, call 562-426-4066.

These guitars avoid the landfill to become canvases for Long Beach artists

Samantha Diaz
Online Editor

Residents can come to appreciate a plethora of guitars, drums and cellos—not for their sound but for the original art plastered atop the various instruments—at Able ARTS Work’s second annual Yamaha Cares Upcycled Guitar exhibit.

Instruments that were once destined for a landfill have made their way to artists from local foundations through a partnership between Long Beach not-for-profit Able ARTS Work (AAW) and the Yamaha Cares Upcycle program. The gallery honors AAW’s mission of making creative art activities and resources for people of all abilities. They will also be displaying a number of upcycled instruments from other charities throughout Orange County that received pieces from Yamaha Cares.

The Yamaha Cares Upcycle program began in 2020 as an employee-based initiative to “promote education, arts, health and human services, and community development in the areas where its employees live,” according to the company’s website. The Yamaha Corporation of America is based in Buena Park.

In December of 2020, Yamaha donated more than 200 slightly blemished guitars, cellos and violins to four not-for-profit organizations: the Anaheim School District, KatrinaKures/CHOC, Able ARTS Work and the Boys & Girls Club of Buena Park, where the company’s U.S. headquarters is located.

While the gallery only received four upcycled guitars that year, they invited the other participating organizations to display their works of art, many done by children or those with disabilities, all in the same space. The innovative exhibit raised a total of $2,600 for the artists and foundations involved.

“It was really neat to collaborate with kids and to see the work they had done,” said Kristy Glass, director of community advancement for AAW. “Some of their guitars were very meaningful and spoke to what was happening at the time and they were thrilled to see their work in the gallery. We thought, ‘Oh, we’ve got to do this again.’”

This year’s exhibit brings a new slew of instruments reimaged: an “E.T. Dude” sculpture completely transforming a guitar, an old ukulele covered in gems, a violin featuring funky robots painted with acrylic markers.

AAW will be featuring artists of their own as well as creations from KatrinaKures/CHOC, a foundation dedicated to researching childhood diabetes; The Ranchos Los Amigos Foundation, which raises funds for patients dealing with disabling injuries or illnesses; and Growing Side By Side for Adrian’s Place, a foundation that supports families with children with special needs.

Each piece sold will directly benefit the artists and charities involved.

The gallery’s opening will coincide with First Fridays in Bixby Knolls, an additional perk of the organization’s new location in Bixby Knolls, Glass explained.

“We align our exhibit opening with First Friday’s events and it brings in an amazing crowd,” Glass said. “I feel like there are more people that have the opportunity to walk through, see and appreciate the art and acknowledge the artists.”

Residents will have the chance to upcycle their own instruments at the exhibit opening, as AAW will be selling pieces of a deconstructed drum set for $3 for participants to paint, draw and write on.

The exhibit will run from July 1 to September 1, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. inside the EXPO Arts Center. First Fridays take place on the first Friday of each month from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in Bixby Knolls and will coincide with the gallery’s opening.

The gallery will be closed Monday, July 4 for the Independence Day holiday.

ZONING

Residents invited to help rezone Anaheim and Pacific Coast Highway commercial corridors for future decades of development

Emma DiMaggio
Managing Editor

The City of Long Beach is looking to rezone parts of the Anaheim and Pacific Coast Highway commercial corridors and is inviting residents to weigh in at a series of community meetings in July.

The Zone In: City Core effort, previously known as the Anaheim Corridor Zoning Implementation Plan (ACZIP), will reimagine zoning and development regulations to support new housing options, commercial projects and pedestrian-friendly sites in the project area.

The zoning effort focuses on the area bounded by Pacific Coast Highway, 10th Street, Magnolia and Ximeno Avenues.

The Department of Development Services has already made headway on community input for the zoning, holding a series of community listening sessions earlier this year.

"It's really been about understanding the people's aspirations for this part of Long Beach, what they see as challenges and how those might be addressed," Deputy Director of Development Services Christopher Koontz said. "So that helps us form the big picture."

The three upcoming community listening sessions will focus on technical work, figuring out how to put the zones together in a way that incentivizes development but adheres to the community's vision for the area.

Richard H. Grant | Signal Tribune
An aerial view of the United Cambodian Community building in Long Beach on Jan. 10, 2022.

"That's where aspiration meets reality," Koontz said.

In the upcoming listening sessions, Koontz hopes to hear about current challenges and where community members are willing to compromise. For example, the plan could include more residential zoning for housing, but the buildings might have to be taller to incentivize developers to actually build them.

"People want great places to gather, they want places to shop and eat, but they also want to maintain some legacy businesses and connections to the past. They want housing to be affordable but they're also concerned about traffic and negative outcomes," Koontz said. "You can't necessarily do everything perfectly all at once, but you try to balance that out and come up with something that's achievable and the right kind of balance."

The City's Land Use Element, which was completed in 2019, gave the department basic rules to work with: such as the number of stories allowed, which types of housing or commercial uses are allowed, and other basic zoning regulations.

"But it really doesn't get into, 'What will the buildings look like? What is the right combination of carrots and sticks to get there?'" Koontz explained.

The community is invited to learn more about the zoning effort and provide input by participating in one of three in-person meetings presented by the Long Beach Development Services Department. Interpretation will be provided in Spanish and Khmer. The events will feature free childcare services, food, games and giveaways for attendees.

By the end of 2023, Development Services will begin to tack down the final zoning. It will then go to the Planning Commission in spring of 2023 and then to the Long Beach City council around July 2023 for final approval.

ing to the bill.

The military-grade weapons and equipment currently held by SHPD include:

- 12 semi-automatic rifles
- 7,000 rounds of Winchester .223 Remington ammunition
- 11 submachine guns
- 1 grenade launcher
- 50 smoke grenades
- 270 rounds of less-lethal shotgun and bean bag munitions

There was no public comment.

Councilmember Edward Wilson asked for a clarification regarding the military equipment stocked, wondering if police could acquire new equipment any time in the calendar year.

Charles said the police did not request additional equipment besides what was already available from past purchases.

The police must seek approval from the council to authorize additional equipment purchases. If such a request was made, a meeting would be held the following year with a revised military equipment list to align with the changes.

The chief of police will also hire a command staff member or civilian manager to serve as the military equipment coordinator—a committee liaison in charge of preparing annual military reports, coordinating community engagement and identifying inventory in the department.

The policy will be made publicly available on the Signal Hill Police Department website for as long as the covered military equipment is available.

The City of Signal Hill ("City") will receive electronic proposals only for providing the City with a Local Roadway Safety Plan ("Services"), no later than 5:00 P.M. on July 29, 2022. Proposals shall be valid for 180 calendar days after the submission deadline.

The Services generally consist of the preparation of a comprehensive Local Roadway Safety Plan (LRSP) that will allow the City to identify potential traffic safety projects.

Proposals must be submitted in accordance with the City's Request for Proposals (RFP), which is available to registered vendors through the City's electronic bid management system, PlanetBids, at

<https://pbsystem.planetbids.com/portal/36746/bo/bo-detail/95356>

Interested bidders may participate by selecting "Bid Opportunities" on the home page. The RFP may be downloaded at no charge. The RFP will not be available for sale at City Hall. Proposals must be submitted in electronic format through the City's electronic bid management system. The electronic bid management system will not accept late proposals. Electronic modifications to or withdrawal of proposals may be made by the Respondent prior to the proposal closing deadline. The price of each proposal will be available to the public at the closing deadline on the City's website in the electronic bid management system.

A contract shall be awarded, if at all, to the best qualified proposer. Determination of the best qualified proposer will be made solely by the City on criteria determined by the City. The decision of the City shall be final. In its discretion, the City may reject any proposal, abandon the purchase, or re-advertise. The City reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals and to waive any informality or irregularity in any proposal received by the City.

Certain labor categories under this project may be subject to prevailing wages as identified in the State of California Labor Code commencing at sections 1720 et seq. and 1770 et seq. If applicable, employees working in these categories at the site must be paid not less than the basic hourly rates of pay and fringe benefits established by the California Department of Industrial Relations. Copies of the State of California wage schedules are available for review at www.dir.ca.gov/dlsr. The successful Respondent shall post a copy of the prevailing wage rates at each job site. It shall be mandatory upon the Respondent to whom the contract is awarded, and upon any subcontractors, to comply with all Labor Code provisions, which include but are not limited to the payment of not less than the said specified prevailing wage rates to all workers employed by them in the execution of the contract, employment of apprentices, hours of labor and debarment of contractors and subcontractors. Pursuant to Labor Code sections 1725.5 and 1771.1, all contractors and subcontractors that wish to bid on, be listed in a bid proposal, or enter into a contract to perform public work must be registered with the Department of Industrial Relations ("DIR"). No proposal will be accepted nor any contract entered into without proof of the contractor's and subcontractors' current registration with the DIR to perform public work. If awarded a contract, the Respondent and its subcontractors, of any tier, shall maintain active registration with the DIR for the duration of the project. The contract awarded pursuant to this proposal may also be subject to compliance monitoring and enforcement by the DIR.

This project is federally funded. The Davis-Bacon and Related Acts apply to contractors and subcontractors performing on federally funded or assisted contracts in excess of $2,000 for the construction, alteration, or repair (including painting and decorating) of public buildings or public works. Davis-Bacon Act and Related Act contractors and subcontractors must pay their laborers and mechanics employed under the contract no less than the locally prevailing wages and fringe benefits for corresponding work on similar projects in the area. The Davis-Bacon Act directs the Department of Labor to determine such locally prevailing wage rates. The Davis-Bacon Act prevailing wage provisions apply to the Related Acts, under which federal agencies assist construction projects through grants, loans, loan guarantees, and insurance. Pet of the week: Bowie

Bowie, a very special 2-year-old German shepherd mix, came to Long Beach Animal Care Services as a stray in August 2021—almost a year ago. Poor Bowie was so undersocialized and terrified that it took months for anyone to handle him—we can only guess how sad and lonely his life was. He slowly bonded with his favorite volunteers, and he now understands that many people are good and can be excellent sources of kindness, affection and, of course, treats! Bowie will need a patient, dog-savvy human to provide guidance and reassurance as he builds even more confidence—a relaxed, confident doggie sibling would add goodness to the mix—he likes other dogs! Our shelter is over capacity, and Bowie urgently needs foster, adoption or rescue placement. Shelter hours are Wednesday through Sunday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 7700 E. Spring St. at the entrance to El Dorado Park (no parking fee for shelter visitors). You can email PetAdopt@longbeach.gov to speed the process for adopting Bowie. Ask for ID#A661312.
