Quiet comfort and curly hair care: the unique offerings of Black Sheep Salon

This Long Beach salon focuses on curly-haired, neurodiverse and disabled clients.

Kristen Farrah Naeem

Staff Writer

Does a haircut free from the obligatory small talk with your stylist sound like a dream? Then Black Sheep Salon in the Wrigley neighborhood of Long Beach is the place for you.

Owner Marie Rolla opened Black Sheep Salon in 2021 to provide specialized services for neurodiverse, disabled and curly-haired clients. As an autistic woman herself, Rolla's personal experience informs the services she provides for her clients.

Those who book an appointment can expect a wide range of accommodation available upon request: earplugs to prevent water and shampoo from getting in their ears; fragrance-free products or a product-free haircut; barber chairs that can hold up to 800 pounds and can be moved to make space for a wheelchair; a portable shampoo sink for clients who can't get out of their wheelchair; and a chat-free service for a blissfully silent experience.

"The places I was working weren't the best situations for my clients that I was bringing in, and there was just definitely a big disconnect in the level of discomfort, where a lot of my textured-hair clients weren't being served as correctly or safely," Rolla said of hair salons she worked at before. "As well as just noticing [...] that there really wasn't a lot of access to hair care for disabled people, or people with limited abilities to do their hair. There's a large demographic of people that just were not being serviced and I didn't necessarily feel comfortable in the spaces that I was servicing them."

Staff Report
Signal Tribune

The City of Signal Hill is looking to fill an open position on its Parks and Recreation Commission.

The position opened unexpectedly due to a member of the commission moving out of Signal Hill. The individual hired to fill the position will finish the previous commission members' term, which lasts until May 31, 2025.

The application period will open on Nov. 17 and close on Dec. 15, and applicants will be told if they have to return for an interview by Dec. 22.

If there are 10 applicants or less, the city council will interview and appoint the new commission member on Jan. 23. If there are more than 10 applicants, the council will conduct the interviews on either Jan. 30, or Feb. 6 2024.

Previously scheduled inspections are being honored and new inspections are being handled by phone request at 562-570-LBCD (5223). While the department is maintaining permitting operations for those who need immediate assistance, some delays may be experienced during this time. For all permitting

FOOD

This Christmas bake-off raises food and supplies for people and pets

Residents can enjoy homemade baked goods and a free concert by donating food, clothing or pet items.

Samantha Diaz
Managing Editor

Decadent fluffy cupcakes decorated with green and red swirl frosting and topped with sprinkles. Triple-tiered chocolate cake with powdered sugar, made to look like snow, blanketing its surface. Intricately shaped sugar cookies lined with royal icing to imitate snowmen, Christmas trees, gifts, snowflakes and other holiday icons.

Residents can enjoy all of these tasty creations and many more at the ninth annual Christmas cookie decorating and bake-off contest hosted by the Long Beach nonprofit Community Action Team.

At least 30 participants will enter their homemade cookies, cakes, pies, brownies, cupcakes and other delicacies for a chance to place in one of six prizes. Winners will receive $50 to donate to their favorite charity, school, organization or place of worship, while residents will get the chance to taste the contested creations for themselves.

The event has gone through many iterations, first beginning with a fall-themed bake-off with a separate Christmas cookie decorating contest held during one of the nonprofit's monthly clean-ups.

Now the bake-off is held at the Bay Shore Community Congregational Church, complete with a 25-person professional brass and percussion band with the Southern California Brass Consortium. The 90-minute concert is free for attendees while judges in the next room will decide the winners for the bake-off contest and the Christmas cookie decorating contest.

Justin Rudd, who runs the Community Action Team, said he combined the two baking events in order to ease his workload while planning the monthly beach clean-ups and back-to-back holiday events. He's now realized that adding a free concert is his "gift to the community."

While the concert and tasting reception is free, residents are asked to bring a donation of pet supplies for Operation Santa Paws, or food and clothing for people experiencing homelessness.

Rudd said the homeless shelters his nonprofit partners with are mostly requesting packages of men's black socks during this time of the year.

The baking contests are free to enter as well, and people of all ages and skill levels can enter.

"We want to take away anything that might keep someone from being able to enter," Rudd said. "The rules are simple, it has to be baked, it can't be store bought or from a box. We want it to be from scratch."

Additional rules include:

- Cakes must be brought in whole, not with slices taken out or served individually

- Participants must bring their own serving utensils and cutting

- For those bringing smaller entries such as cupcakes, brownies, bars etc., there is a minimum entry amount of 24 items for judges and the community to taste.

- Participants can enter more than one item, but the contest is for individuals, not teams or partners.

Entries will be judged by the current Ms. Long Beach and Ms. Southern California, as well as a food critic, restaurant writer, as well as a baker or culinary teacher who is yet to be announced.

For those participating in the baking contests, items must be dropped off, ready to present, from 4 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. Judging will begin at 4:45 p.m., the Christmas concert will begin at 5 p.m. and the tasting reception will begin at 6:30 p.m.

All events are free and will take place at the Bay Shore Community Congregational Church at 5100 E The Toledo in Long Beach. Though the events are free, residents must reserve their spot online since seats for the concert are limited.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-844-477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site <http://www.stoxposting.com/sales-calendar>, using the file number assigned to this case 2023-04766. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer" you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 1-844-477-7869 or visit this internet website <http://www.stoxposting.com/sales-calendar>, using the file number assigned to this case 2023-04766 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. "NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: WE REQUIRE CERTIFIED FUNDS AT SALE BY CASHIER'S CHECK(S) PAYABLE DIRECTLY TO "INTEGRATED LENDER SERVICES, INC." TO AVOID DELAYS IN ISSUING THE FINAL DEED". BLACK SHEEP SALON

When the pandemic hit in 2020, salons were closed and Rolla had extra free time on her hands. She used that time to educate herself online about how to specifically care for curly hair and natural hair patterns.

She began to envision a salon that would not only focus on those with curly or kinky hair, but also the disabled and neurodiverse communities—people who are not typically catered to in the average salon.

“I have had clients that haven’t been able to fit into chairs and I’ve seen a lot of really uncomfortable experiences,” Rolla said. “And I had a really hard time finding an owner that was on board with the things that I was on board with. And I got really frustrated. And so I had a vision and I decided to go for it and I’m here now.”

Rolla was surprised by the level of support her business received after she began offering specialized services.

“I began taking a lot of clients and I was shocked at a lot of things, I was shocked at the number of my clients that were comfortable with me doing their hair having little to no experience working with textured hair, being comfortable seeing, you know, a non-Black person and being able to service them. And I realized that was because there was really not anybody else doing that kind of work.”

At first glance, potential clients may balk at the relatively high prices Black Sheep Salon charges. A haircut can range from $95 to $250 depending on the stylist and type of haircut, with the addition of bleach or hair dye, services can reach up to $500.

But Rolla explained that their prices are set to provide a livable wage to the stylists, who she says are all breadwinners for their families, and many of whom are disabled.

Richard H. Grant | Signal Tribune
Marie Rolla, owner of Black Sheep Salon, poses for a portrait in the private room of their salon on Nov. 14, 2023.

Besides a lower-than-average annual income, many hairstylists don’t receive benefits from their job, such as health insurance. This is particularly concerning in light of the health risks involved.

According to a 2022 article published in the International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health, hairdressers have a higher rate of certain health problems compared to the general population, including rhinitis, asthma, contact dermatitis and reproductive issues. The same study found evidence that this is caused by the chemicals hairdressers are exposed to during their work day, including ammonia and formaldehyde.

“It’s not even just color, the styling products that I’m touching all day for 12 hours a day, 10 hours a day, just constantly exposed to chemicals, like the air quality from the blow dries, from the chemicals that I’m breathing in all day [...],” Rolla said “It’s hard when you see the high service price points to understand what it might feel like to be in our shoes and what this looks like. But it’s a very, very hard job. And it’s not a very safe job. It’s a very dangerous job.”

Despite the challenges intrinsic to her line of work, Rolla and the rest of the stylists at Black Sheep Salon remain dedicated to providing a safe place for everyone to get their hair done.

Pet of the week:
Lady Gata

November is Adopt a Senior Pet Month, and do we have a girl for you! Her name is Lady Gata, she's 14 years old, and she's a sweetheart. Heck, she was born this way. She's used to a home, and sadly has lost hers. She'd love to curl up in a quiet, adult-only dwelling. Since this is Thanksgiving weekend, how about giving this lovely girl a million reasons to be thankful? To adopt or foster Lady Gata, email PetAdopt@longbeach.gov to speed the process, or call (562) 570-7387. Ask for ID#A707857.

(This rescue encouraged by the usual suspects.)
